Core Values Worksheet

Knowing your core values and being clear why they are important to you can help you find greater satisfaction, meaning, and direction in both your personal and business life. Living by your core values will directly influence your behaviors and attitudes and will serve as your guideposts in making decisions. You should not have one set of values for the workplace and another set of values for your personal life. If, for example, fairness, honesty, and persistence are your three core values, then these should be your guiding lights in both your personal and business life.

Listed below are core values to get you started. Reflect on the values that are important to you, the values you stand for, and that you are willing to defend. Use the blanks to add other values not listed that are important to you. If you find yourself in a situation incongruous with your core values, it is probably indicative of you having made some decisions that were inconsistent with your core values.

Step 1:

Choose the top 10 values that are important to you.

1.	6.
2.	7.
3.	8.
4.	9.
5.	10.

Step 2:

Choose your top 5 values from your original list of 10 values. If you have a difficult time narrowing down your list, on a separate sheet of paper, write a few sentences why each value is important to you. That will make it easier to narrow down your list from 10 to 5 and ultimately down to the three core values that are most important to you.

- 1. _____
- 2. _____
- 3. _____
- 4. _____
- 5. _____

Step 3:

Choose the 3 values from your list of 5 values that are most important to you. Repeat the process of narrowing down your list of core values until you arrive at the three core values that you believe accurately reflect who you are as a person. Refer to your core values frequently and use them to guide you in your decision-making.
